

Mercury and the Origins of Autism

The inventor of the organic mercury compounds used in vaccinations and in fungicides may have very well set the stage for the appearance of autism from its earliest beginnings. Two researchers, publishing their findings in their book, The Age of Autism, have shown that mercury was the cause of most of the first eleven cases of autism ever reported. Their finding adds to the substantial evidence that mercury in vaccines played a major role in the autism explosion of the 1990s, raising the plausibility of the view that autism has been fueled by largely by mercury poisoning throughout its entire 80 year history.

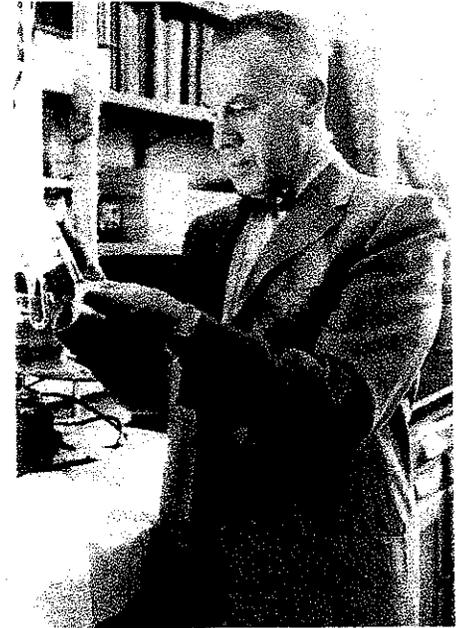

Before creating the deadly thimerosal and the highly toxic mercury fungicides, Morris Kharasch was a major talent in the chemical warfare service, developing chemical weapons for America during World War I. He developed 300 chemical warfare compounds. Mercury compounds were among the poisons tested for their weapon potential, but the mercury "didn't kill fast enough to make a difference on the battle field."

Following the war, Kharasch went back to college and finished his Ph.D. in chemistry. He then went on to develop organic mercury compounds for use in medicine (thimerosal) and a highly effective fungicide (Ceresan). In 1930, the Kharasch produced a scientific paper that said that the new mercury preservative, Merthiolate (thimerosal) "in the repeated doses, did not bring about any demonstrable later toxic effects." Following this assurance, thimerosal became one of the most widely used commercial preservatives in medicine and biology. Kharasch partnered with the Eli Lilly Company for the commercial use of thimerosal in the diphtheria toxoid vaccine, and then it went on to be used in many other vaccines.

Within a few years, the first cases of autism were identified by leading psychiatrist Leo Kanner, and in 1943, Dr. Kanner published his landmark paper describing the first 11 cases of autism ever known. But, as researchers Mark Blaxill and Dan Olmsted have found, of the first 11 known cases of autism, three of them are linked to a mercury fungicide, and four, and possibly five, of them fall into a "medical mercury" cluster with evidence pointing to thimerosal. So, autism was largely generated by organic mercury compounds from its very start, compounds invented by Morris Kharasch.

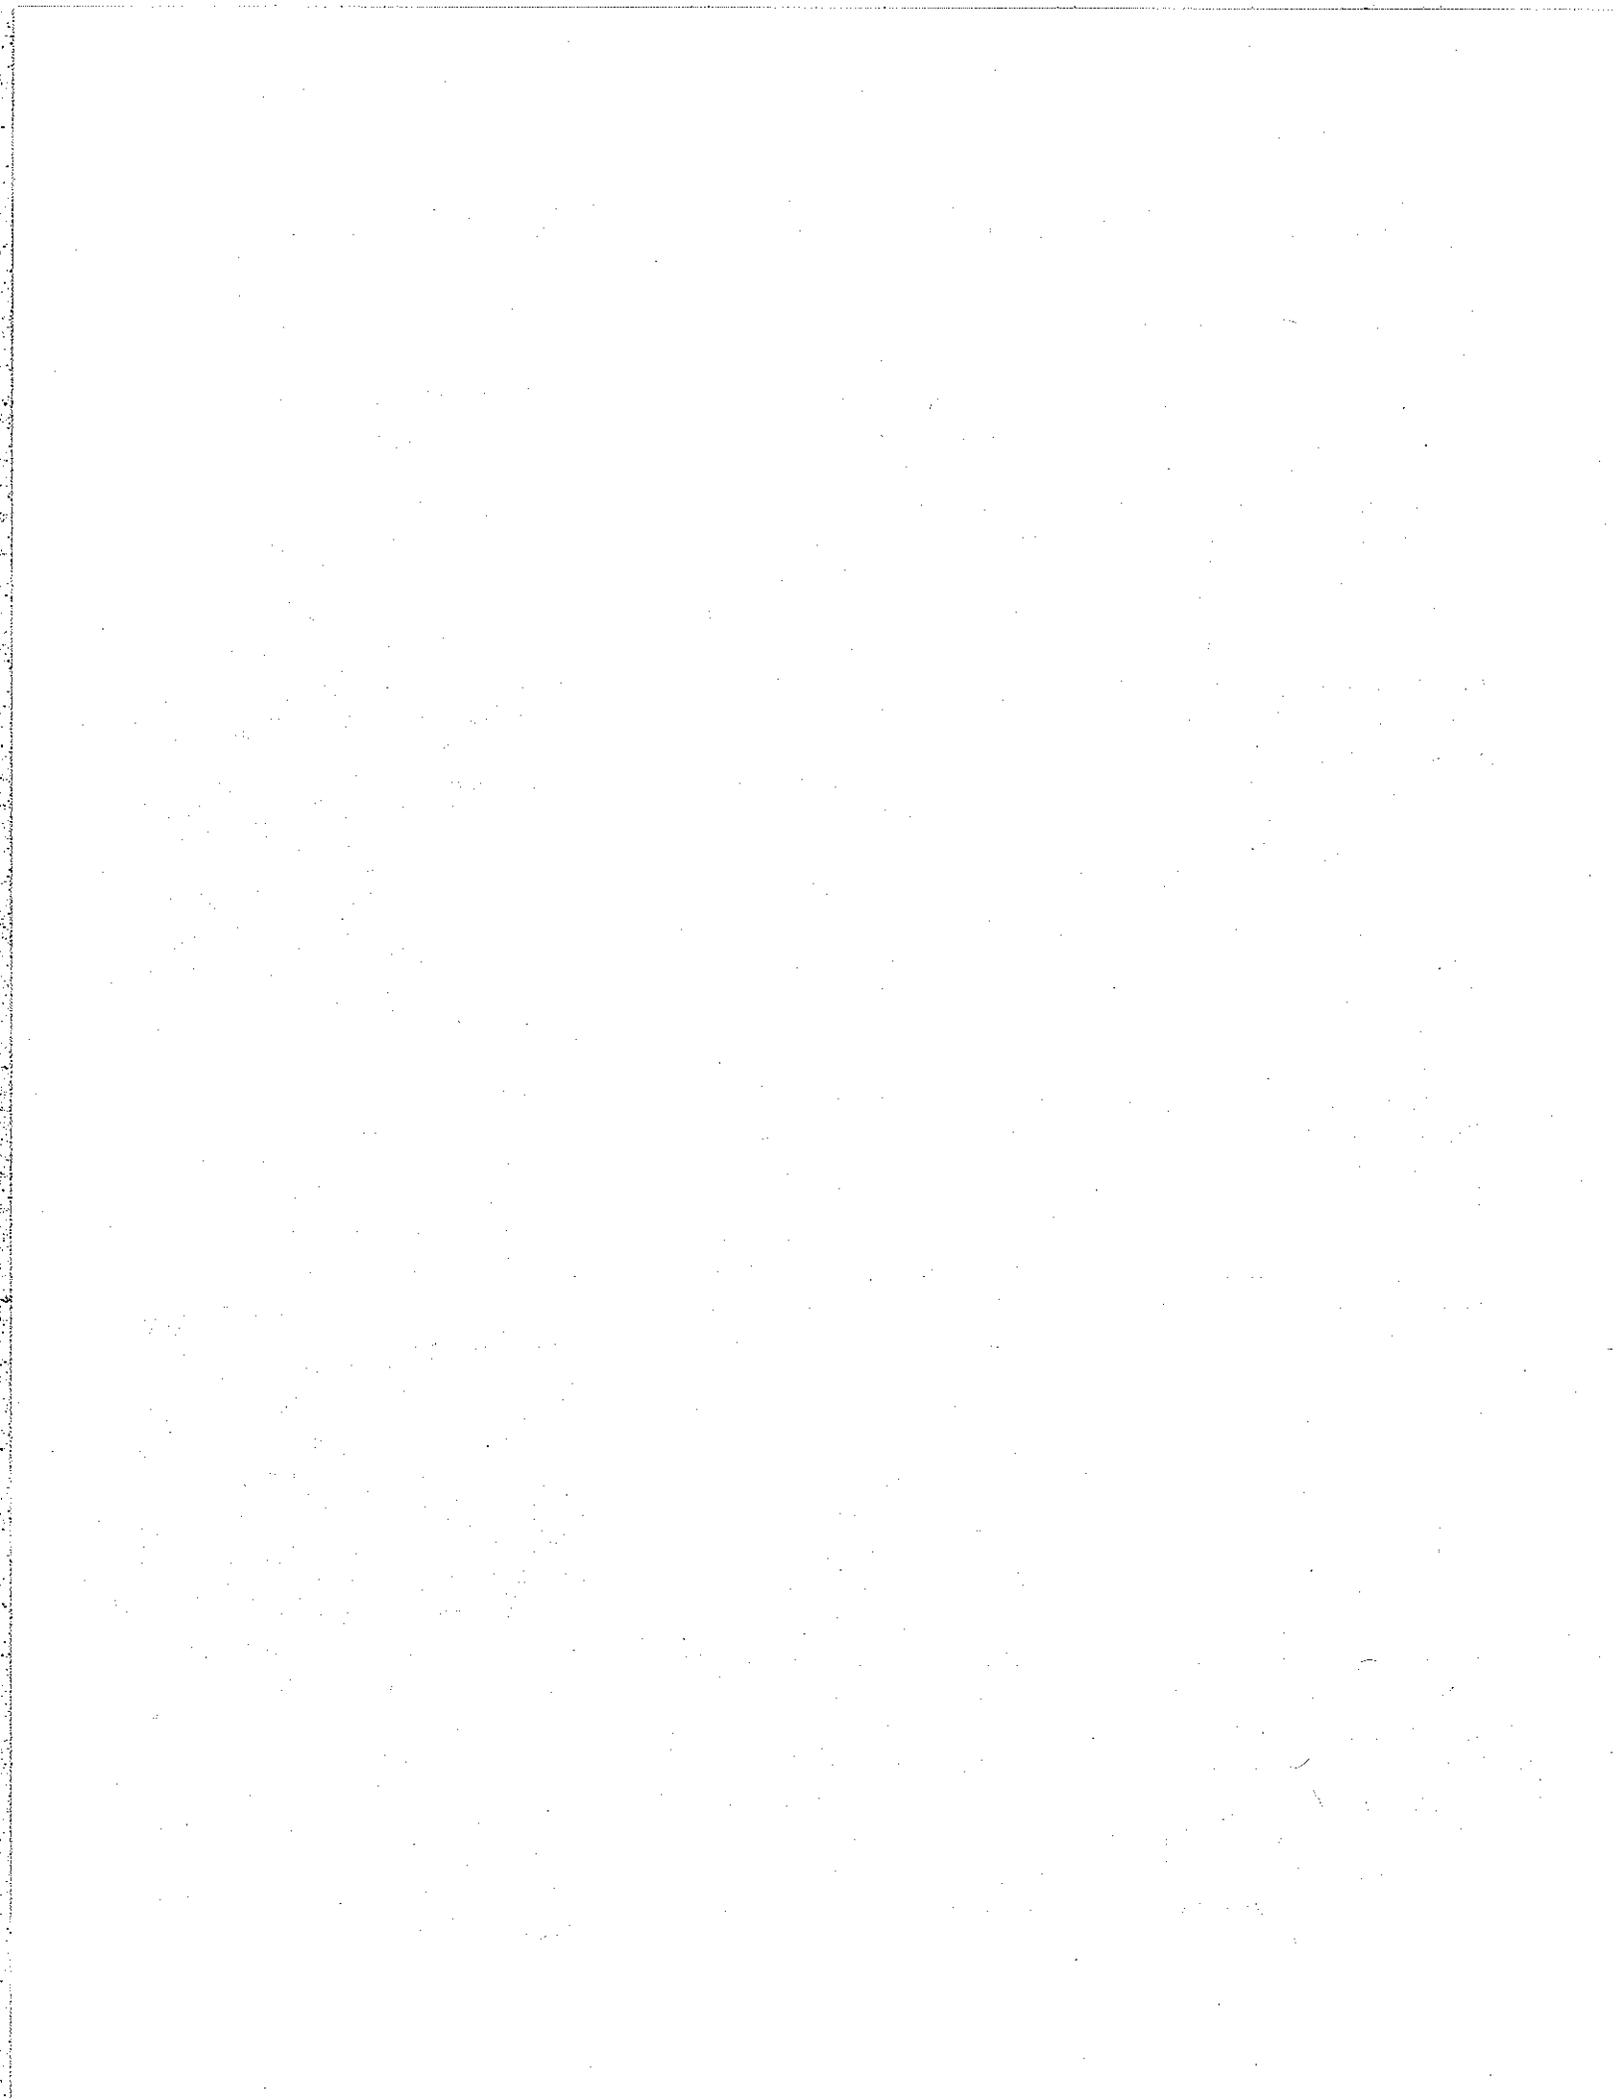

The Age of Autism reveals a long and pathetic history of mercury poisoning that has been caused by the medical system. In one way or another, the patients, the doctors, and even a brilliant inventor, have been unable to "see" the mercury as the cause of any problems. With the help of this path-breaking book, now, this history has been laid bare and we may all be more able to see the havoc made by the use of mercury.

Most early cases of autism were traced to either exposure to an organic mercury fungicide or to thimerosal, an organic mercury preservative used in medicine. Morris Kharasch, above, invented them both.

Dan Olmsted, left, and Mark Blaxill researched the first eleven cases of autism ever reported in the scientific literature. Nearly all of them were plausibly linked to mercury's effect on the autistic child or one of his parents. Their history of autism points to a mercury connection throughout its entire history.

Vaccine Quick View: Seasonal/H1N1 Flu (2010/2011)

 Vaccine Ingredients Calculator	Vaccine Quick View: Seasonal/H1N1 Flu (2010/2011)
	CSL Limited				GlaxoSmithKline		MedImmune	Novartis				Sanofi Pasteur
	Afluria		Fluarix		FluLaval	FluMist	Agriflu		Fluvirin		Fluzone		Fluzone HD
	multi-dose	single-dose	single-dose	multi-dose	single-dose	single-dose	single-dose	single-dose	multi-dose	single-dose	multi-dose	single-dose
INGREDIENT	pediatric (6 months thru 3 years)	adult (4 years to adult)	pediatric (6 months thru 3 years)	adult (4 years and older)	adult (3 years and older)	adult (18 years and older)	adult (2 years thru 49 years)	adult (18 years and older)	adult (4 years and older)	adult (4 years and older)	pediatric (6 months thru 2 years)	adult (3 years and older)	pediatric (6 months thru 2 years)	adult (3 years and older)	adult (65 years and older)
Preservatives
Mercury	●	●				●				●			●	●
Animal and human DNA/protein
Egg Protein	●	●	●	●	●	●	?	●	●	●	?	?	?	?	?
Hydrolyzed Porcine (pig) Gelatin							●				●	●	●	●	●
Antigens
Influenza A (H1N1)	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●
Influenza A (H3N2)	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●
Influenza B	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●	●
Antibiotics
Gentamicin Sulfate					●		●
Kanamycin								●
Neomycin Sulfate									●	●
Polymyxin B									●	●
Antimicrobial, toxin, or viral inactivators
Formaldehyde					●	●		●			●	●	●	●	●
beta-Propiolactone		●	●	●					●	●
Sodium Deoxycholate					●	●
Detergent, emulsifier and dispersing agents, stabilizers
Octoxynol-10 (TRITON X-100)					●						●	●	●	●	●
Polysorbate 80					●			●
Monosodium Glutamate (MSG)							●
Sucrose							●
Vaccine packaging
Latex					?			?	?		?	?	?	?	?
Growth medium components
Calcium Chloride	●	●	●	●
Alpha Tocopheryl Hydrogen Succinate (vitamin E)					●
Arginine							●
Hydrocortisone					●
Virus splitter or antigen retrieval
Sodium Taurodeoxycholate	●	●	●	●
Cetyl trimethylammonium bromide (CTAB)								●
Nonylphenol Ethoxylate									●	●
Adjust pH, tonicity
Dibasic Potassium Phosphate							●
Dibasic Sodium Phosphate	●	●	●	●
Monobasic Potassium Phosphate							●
Monobasic Sodium Phosphate	●	●	●	●
Potassium Chloride	●	●	●	●
Sodium Chloride	●	●	●	●							?	?	?	?	?

NVIC from the CDC website 7/10/10

Subject:

From:

To:

Date: Wednesday, December 18, 2013 9:23 AM

New York City to force all children to be injected with mercury in the form of flu shots

December 12, 2013 at 10:10 am

by Mike Adams – Natural News

Of all the toxic heavy metals, mercury is the most devastating to the brain. No legitimate scientist would ever argue that mercury is safe to inject into a child at any dose, and the CDC has never established any "safe" level of mercury in human blood for the simple reason that there's isn't any safe level.

Yet the New York City Board of Health has now decided that all children in New York City need to be injected with a devastating dose of toxic mercury as part of their twisted "public health" measure. Flu shots, of course, still contain the neurotoxin heavy metal known as mercury, yet virtually the entire medical establishment blatantly lies to the public and claims — with a straight face — that "all the mercury has been removed from vaccines."

That is an insidious lie. It's still in flu shots.

CDC admits: Nearly all flu shots still contain toxic mercury

The CDC even reluctantly admits that on its own thimerosal page where it states that the 2013-2014 flu shot "contains thimerosal to safeguard against possible contamination of the vial once it is opened."

The CDC then goes on to wildly discredit itself by claiming, "There is a large body of scientific evidence on the safety of thimerosal." What the CDC doesn't tell you, of course, is that this "large body of scientific evidence" was conjured up by the vaccine industry itself — the same industry for which the CDC primarily serves as cheerleader, marketing department and pimp. Surely we are more skeptical of industry today than we were in the days when Big Tobacco hired a bunch of doctors and scientists to claim that "cigarettes are good for you" and "nicotine is not addictive" — all while the pages of the Journal of the American Medical Association touted full-page ads for Camel's Cigarettes which claimed, "More doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!"

Yep, Big Tobacco says cigarettes are safe. (And for a long time so did the AMA.) The fracking industry says fracking is good for the environment. The Corn Refiners Association says high-fructose corn syrup is healthy for children. Casino lobbyists say casinos are good for society. Monsanto says GMOs are perfectly safe to eat. Dentists insists that mercury fillings are totally safe to chew on. And not surprisingly, vaccine manufacturers swear up and down that mercury is actually GOOD for you because it "makes vaccines work better." (Yes, this is actually one of their ridiculous claims.)

There is no anti-logic too twisted for the vaccine industry, you see. The entire industry is based on a fabrication so sweeping and insidious that it can easily be disproven with the momentary invocation of simple logic. That fabrication is the false assumption that all vaccines are absolutely safe.

Why there is no such thing as a safe vaccine

This is the premise of the entire vaccine industry: no vaccine can ever, under any circumstances, cause harm. All vaccines are beneficial and have no serious side effects. All children should be required by the state to take vaccines because all vaccines are absolutely safe, and so on and so forth. Vaccine safety is assumed to be absolute!

The people who make these statements are pathetic excuses for scientists, doctors and public health "officials." They lack intelligence. They are incapable of clear thinking. Their brains are damaged, perhaps from vaccines. Why do I say that? Because the term "safe" is an absolute term. There is no such thing as a "safe" vaccine because there is no such thing as a vaccine without risk. Anyone who claims "vaccines are safe" and actually believes it is either woefully uninformed or deeply mentally impaired.

Certainly, you can talk about certain vaccines being "safer" than other vaccines in terms of relative risk, but there is no such thing as a vaccine that offers absolute safety. Yet this is the way vaccines are routinely described by doctors and public health officials... and anyone who dares to raise the legitimate question of levels of risk or harm that can be reasonably attributed to the injection of mercury into the body of a child is instantly labeled a lunatic by the medical mafia (actually a cult of reductionism).

You see, it is an undeniable, scientific fact that every vaccine comes with a risk of serious injury or death, and as tens of thousands of parents are discovering each year in the USA alone, vaccines can also pull the trigger on a cascading collapse of neurological function that we now call "autism spectrum disorder." To describe vaccines as functioning without risk is to label yourself an idiot, a quack, or a shill for the vaccine industry. Perhaps all three.

Vaccines are so dangerous, the entire vaccine industry had to be granted blanket legal immunity just to stay in business

The desperate attempts of the CDC and vaccine manufacturers to hide this clear link between injected mercury (thimerosal) and autism is one of the saddest and most insidious medical conspiracies in human history. Those who deny that mercury is toxic to children are morally repugnant and scientifically inept. They are the "Flat Earthers" of medicine and they will do almost anything to make sure your child gets injected with a substance so dangerous that the entire industry had to be granted legal immunity by Congress because its products would otherwise result in so much legal liability that the industry would go bankrupt.

If cars were sold in the same way as vaccines, every 1 in 88 families who bought a car would find their child permanently maimed by the child seat sold with the car, to the point where that child could no longer function in society. And then, when they tried to sue the manufacturer for selling them a faulty, dangerous product, they would be told, "Sorry. The car industry has been granted blanket immunity from all lawsuits. You have no due process." That's how the vaccine industry works.

Today, 1 in 88 children now have autism. Vaccines aren't the only cause of autism, but they seem to be the trigger in many cases. Yet vaccine companies and vaccine-pushing public health officials continue to carry on the big lie, claiming that vaccines have ZERO link to autism — yet another false piece of medical propaganda designed to keep the medical mafia rolling in cash while your children suffer lifelong brain damage from their faulty products.

Words of wisdom:

Beware of any product so dangerous than the government says "you can't sue the manufacturer even if it kills you" but then that same government turns around and says, "Oh, by the way, you MUST inject your child with this substance, too."

That's New York City in 2014. You must line up your children and inject them with this highly toxic heavy metal. And guess what? If your child suddenly goes autistic, it's YOUR problem, not the state's problem. Don't expect any free medical care for your newly-autistic child.

In this way, the state actually causes serious medical economic damage and then shifts the burden to pay for that damage to the very moms and dads who are also devastated by the harm caused by vaccines.

New York City to become the capitol of autism in America

For the city of New York to now state that all parents much subject their children to these risks of harm and death — without telling those parents the truth about such risks — is a wildly dangerous misappropriation of government power. It is, in essence, "gunpoint medicine" where the state criminalizes non-compliance with a twisted quack science public health mandate that will inevitably increase the rate of autism, paralysis, hospitalization and even death of New York City children.

With this vote, the NYC Board of Health has just declared NYC will be the capitol of autism in America.

It is also, not coincidentally, the capitol of mentally-impaired medical experts who have once again demonstrated to the whole world just how incapable they are of intelligent decision-making. It takes no intelligence whatsoever to prostitute yourself out to the vaccine industry and vote for whatever new mandate happens to support their financial interests. What really takes intelligence is being a vaccine skeptic and considering the incredible mountain of evidence that mercury in vaccines causes brain damage or that thimerosal is linked to neurotoxicity.

Because here's the simple moral, ethical and righteous truth of the matter, encompassing the breadth of medical ethics, human rights, parental rights and fundamental human dignity: When there is any risk of harm in a medical decision, parents' rights trump the state. Children do not belong to the state; they belong to their parents. When parents are forced to subject their own children to medical procedures which carry a significant risk of serious harm or even death, it is nothing less than the tyranny of a medical police state to mandate such potentially harmful interventions.

Any city, state or nation which claims this power to force parents to potentially lobotomize their own children with a questionable medical intervention (that's easy to beat with things like zinc and vitamin D, by the way) has forfeit any moral or legal authority it might have once held. It is an open admission that the city, state or nation in question has abandoned fundamental human rights and has transitioned into a medical police state society, where whatever toxic interventions happen to generate profits for the drug companies will be forced onto children at gunpoint.

That is where we have arrived today in New York City. Real science has been abandoned. Medical ethics are thrown out the window. Logic and sanity are nowhere to be found. Parental rights? Trampled into oblivion. Full disclosure? Never gonna happen. PRO-CHOICE? Not with vaccines, you moms! You get no choice. Sure, if you want an abortion, it's your choice because the state says you have that right. But what if you want to SAVE a child that's already been born by not subjecting it to mercury? NYC now says you don't have that right.

Folks, we are well into the age of insanity. Reason has been long abandoned. "Science" has been twisted into whatever warped bastardization the for-profit industry wants it to be. Medical ethics are nowhere to be found. The vaccine mandate push is perhaps the best example yet of how modern medicine — with all its faulty reductionist paradigms — is a failure on all levels: biochemically, morally, financially, sociologically, ethically and even culturally.

Forced vaccine mandates are the single most worrisome sign we've seen yet that the state has joined forces with the pharma establishment to push reductionist, interventionist pharmacological medicine at the end of a gun. When medicine is so dangerous, so unwanted and so unpopular that it must be forced upon parents under the threat of criminal penalty, something is very, very wrong with that medical system, and it must be torn down, reformed and rebuilt from the ground up with a restoration of the very first rule of medicine: FIRST, DO NO HARM.